You probably have come across the pamphlet, Colonial Finances in Delaware by Hon. Richard S. Rodney. It lists bills which we do not have in our collection. Am enclosing two of our price lists. One of them contains the Rodney article.

Very sincerely yours

Dear Dr. Fields:

We have a small collection of colonial and revolutionary paper money. There are nine pieces of currency in our collection of Delaware paper notes.

We have two examples of the one shilling note issued January 1, 1776; one of the four shilling note of the same date; two of the six shilling note of the same date; and a five shilling note of the same date; an eighteen pence note of the same date; and a one shilling note of May 1, 1777.

In addition we have, for reference purposes, two Pennsylvania nine pence notes of April 1, 1776, and one eighteen pence note of October 1, 1773.

The paper money in this collection was obtained through gifts and purchases.

Very truly yours,

Leon DeValinger, Jr.

Dear Mr. Newman:

The photostat of the two pence note you sent us for identification would seem to belong to Wilmington, Delaware.

Caleb Sheward was an inhabitant of Wilmington, Delaware in 1777 and a member of the Society of Friends. As you will note the two pence note is dated in Quaker style, "First Mo. 8, 1777."

It was not a note issued by the State of Delaware as he was not one of those empowered to sign currency for the State in 1777.

I trust this information may be of service to you.

Sincerely yours,

Gladys Coghlan

Dear Mrs. Coughlin,

Thank you, so much, for identifying the Sheward Revolutionary War scrip. Due credit will be given in my book on Colonial Currency, when published.

Sincerely,

From the desk of
ERIC P. NEWMAN

Also, Spaw is working on an 18th century Philadelphia book binder by the name of Robert Aitken. From Spaw's zerox copy of Aitken's Waste Book (i.e. account book) the original of which belongs to the Library Company, he brought to my attention the following items that have to do with Delaware currency. Perhaps this information will be of use to you in a different connection:

Vermont Never owned one - prices seem OK

Delaware 1/1/53 I've never seen one of these & none in BMD 6/64 or Blue Ridge. If printed in sheets & the same number of each denomination made there would have been 1052 ($\frac{3}{5} \times 997/5$). I think that this issue should remain unpriced until we have some sales records

Mates Re Col Paper
for EPH & BMD

6

Delaware

5/1/56 This issue would avg about 70¢ at each denom. if the same number of each were printed! But - somehow a number of these have survived and have been offered on occasion, so can be priced. Prices listed seem OK except that EPH might have info on the rarities of certain denominations if they weren't printed in sheets.

3/1/58 This issue would average out to about 140¢ each. Still rare, but available. I think these prices too low for the condition BMD 6/64 Good - \$35. If we go to the higher conditions I'd suggest $\frac{6}{6}$ $\frac{6}{6}$ $\frac{5}{5}$ $\frac{5}{5}$ $\frac{7}{5}$.

I wouldn't sell any Franklin note inferior for under 75¢.

5/1/58 Though double the issue - still rare, and still a Franklin note. Suggest only slight reduction from above $\frac{6}{30}$ $\frac{6}{45}$ $\frac{5}{50}$ $\frac{5}{70}$. Just about in line with BMD 6/64.

6/1/59 Same comments regarding saleability of Franklin notes - I'd use some prices as above for the 5000 + 6000 notes and reduce by $2⁵⁰ the 8000 notes + another $2⁵⁰ for the 20 sh. note {evidently 15 sh. #25844???

5/31/60 Another small issue, but available. It would average out to about only 57¢ each. Suggest some prices as 3/1/58 $\frac{6}{35}$ $\frac{6}{50}$ $\frac{5}{75}$.

11/1/76 Not rare - but I wouldn't sell any under these prices : $\frac{F}{10}$ $\frac{VF}{20}$ $\frac{UNC}{35}$

1/8/77 Never even heard of it! unprinted OK

5/1/77 This is not a common issue & I think prices should be higher than ~~prices~~ 11/1/76 though we use different conditions. Suggest 3d - 9d $\frac{VF}{10}$ $\frac{F}{15}$ $\frac{VF}{25}$
 $1S-20S$ $\frac{750}{750}$ $\frac{1250}{1250}$ $\frac{2250}{2250}$

Numbering is unreliable Likewise 1/176 sheets are numbered in order regardless of denomination. On that sheet the numbers go $\frac{1}{4}$ times as high as the amount issued.
